PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

JOB PRINTING

EXECUTED, with neatness and despatch, at the Office of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. April 26

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 3, 1833.

Cholera in Cincinnati.—A letter has been received in this city, from an intelligent gentleman at Cincinnati, in which the loss by Cholera, in that city, is estimated at about two thousand persons, in the two years. This, we think, must certainly be an exaggerated statement, but it shows that the loss must have been enormous.

THE ADVOCATE—SUSPENDED.—We find the following paragraphs in the Pennsylvania Advocate, of this morning:

"Our readers are aware, that we have issued proposals for publishing this paper daily. We expected to have been able to commence the daily paper by the first of September inst.; but the subscription list not yet being filled to the extent required, it is deemed necessary to postpone the commencement of the daily paper for a short period. It is to be hoped that we shall be able to issue the first number by the first of next month. In the mean time, the issuing of the Advocate, either weekly or triweekly, will be suspended. This will enable the editors to wind up the concerns of the year which has just closed, and to make preparations for the daily paper, should sufficient patronage be obtained. * * * *

"The editors deem this a fit occasion to return their thanks to the citizens of Pittsburgh for the encouragement they have received. The general satisfaction which their paper has given, cannot be better proven, than by the fact that, for the past year, not more than half a dozen subscribers have withdrawn their names from it, whilst the increase has been regular and substantial. As to our daily paper, we contemplate issuing it on a sheet of the largest size, or not at all. We wish to publish such a paper as shall, in appearance at least, be creditable to this flourishing city."

It is amusing to hear an editor, who has not been able to sustain a triweekly paper, and who has been sinking in public estimation here, ever since he came, talk about publishing a daily paper, which "shall be respectable in appearance, at least." It is an easy matter to make a paper "respectable in appearance;" the paper maker, the type setters, and the pressmen, can do that, but the people of Pittsburgh and its vicinity require that a newspaper shall not only be "respectable in appearance," but in reality.

That editor will discover, indeed we wonder greatly that he has not already discovered, that the people of Pittsburgh do not measure the respectability of their papers by the square foot, or yard.

For the Gazette.

MR. CRAIG—The favor of a small place in your columns is asked, to remind the public that the Fair, for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum Society, is to take place to morrow morning—and to bespeak for it the patronage of the benevolent. Of the claims of such an institution, there can be but one opinion. It is the purest charity under Heaven; and every heart that can feel, must and will respond to its solicitations for aid. What object can be conceived, more helpless, more destitute, more deserving our tenderest commiseration, and our prompt assistance, than a child deprived of its parents, and left on the wide world without property, without a home! And such, it is the design of this institution to relieve. The objects of its bounty, are "orphans and fatherless;" bereft, in the mysterious dispensations of Providence, of their natural protectors, and wanting not only the comforts of life, but the very means of subsistence. Many are tender, nursing infants; and all are of such an age, that but for the benevolence of strangers, they must suffer, and probably perish. They are naked:—no father, no mother, to clothe them:—famishing,—no father, no mother to give them a morsel of bread:—laboring under disease, pining with sickness,—no parent's tenderness to soothe their suffering, no parent's care to minister to their wants, no parent's home to shelter them from the summer's heat and the winter's blast. Such destitute ones it is, whom the Society, recently organized by a few of the benevolent ladies of this city and its vicinity, wishes to succor. They propose to shelter, feed, clothe, and educate them; to perform, as far as possible, a parent's duty towards them; and providing them with a comfortable home, and the necessary appendages of home, during the helplessness of infancy and childhood; put them in the way of earning an honest living for themselves, and of growing up, useful and virtuous members of the community. And is not this a noble design? Who will refuse to contribute of the means with which a beneficent Providence may have blessed them, to promote it? Who, by their coldness, indifference, sordidness, will suffer these little ones to perish? Surely, it would be a foul blot on the character of our city, if an institution so much needed, and presenting such intrinsic and affecting claims to patronage, should fail in obtaining a liberal support.—Independent of the merits of the object itself, the plan devised for its promotion, deserves commendation; and the hope is confidently entertained, that the zeal and exertions of the benevolent females, who now offer the fruits of their industry and taste, in the cause of charity, will, as they ought to do, receive commensurate encouragement. Let, then, the Fair be crowded with visiting purchasers, with feeling hearts and liberal hands. Let the industry of our mothers and wives, our sisters and daughters, receive an adequate reward; and poor, and destitute, and helpless orphans, find, in the citizens of Pittsburgh, numerous, efficient, and generous friends.

E.

For the Gazette.

MR. CRAIG—Can you, or any of your correspondents, define the difference between Democracy and Federalism, when applied to the General Government—since the adoption of the Federal Constitution. I not unfrequently meet with, in the newspapers, the term—Democratic National Administration; and its opposite—Federal National Administration. If there be any distinction, would it not be well that it were distinctly defined—it is one which I have often heard asked, but never satisfactorily answered. If they are mere names, kept up for party purposes, is it any thing but right that the People should know it?—Does not the history of our country present a melancholy spectacle of how far men may be made to deviate from their best interests, by the influence of a name! How often has worth, with shining talents, been excluded from the councils of the nation to give place to stupidity—simply on account of a name! How often has the question been asked—Is he a Federalist, or is he a Democrat? instead of what are his qualifications? If there be a distinction, with a difference, and that distinction be important to our welfare, let the People know it—let them practice upon it—but if they are merely devices of partisans or demagogues, to sustain their own dominancy, let the People know it, that they may, with indignation cast them, with their unholy relics, away—the question then will be—What are the candidate's qualifications? and not—To what party does he belong?

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

Pitt township.

Judge Clayton, of Georgia, has published in the Southern Banner, a letter of considerable length, designed to call the attention of the Southern people to the manufacture of Cotton Seed Oil. He anticipates from it a great means of profit to the cotton planters. The difficulty heretofore has been the want of a machine to separate the kernels from the lint and hulls, which absorbed the oil and prevented its perfect separation. The machine lately invented by Mr. Johnson, in Georgia, in the opinion of Judge Clayton, entirely removes the difficulty. He describes it as perfect in its kind, not a fibre mixing with the kernel as it comes from the mill as clear as cleaned rice. The practicability being established by this invention, its usefulness is the next point; and the judge, upon what he calls "actual experiment," and "testimony of the most undoubted character," sets forth a glowing description of the profits to be derived by the planters from the manufacture of the oil. According to his experience, it is, when fresh, as good as lard for making corn bread, has a remarkable property for cleansing metals, is equal to any oil in the manufacture of woollens and greasing machinery, is the best for burning in lamps, is altogether a better oil than lint seed for painting, and, what is an important consideration, commands an average higher price.

He estimates the capacity of Georgia, with the common crop of cotton, to produce, beyond all the wants for planting, about six millions of bushels of seed, which will furnish three millions of gallons of oil, which he rates at three millions of dollars. The cotton seed oil will produce about half as much as the whole cotton crop, thus increasing the value of the cotton planting fifty per cent.

The Judge probably over rates the quantity and the price, and perhaps the value of the product as compared with whale oil,—but there can be no question that the scheme is feasible to a great extent, and deserving the attention of the southern planters. The smallness of the outlay for machinery, and the fact that the material to be used is now wasted, and thrown away, make the undertaking cheap and profitable, even at smaller returns than the Judge promises.—*Balt. We are indebted to an esteemed friend for the following translation of an article from a French paper, showing the evident intention of bringing our country into discredit. Mr. Cooper, the novelist, is again borne out in his assertion that the Doctrinaires are inimical to America, by the following, from the Figaro, of the 8th of June.—Albany Dai. Adv.

TRANSLATION.

The Nose of the President of the United States.—A story is told by the 'Messager,' which furnishes matter for reflection to the future Presidents of the French republic.

An American Naval Officer, after as many voyages as Ulysses, returned to the United States, filled with ardor, again to behold his Penelope and the land of liberty. Immediately on his arrival, and before he had embraced his Penelope, he hastened to pay his respects and a petition to the President of the Republic. He asked promotion, and was dismissed. The best republic in the world sometimes does droll things. Astonished beyond measure, the officer called the President an Aristocrat, a man eater and a blood sucker. All this did not in the least discompose the members of the Cabinet, for your American is exceedingly phlegmatic and unmoved, unless you proceed to actual violence.

The officer being of this opinion, and having drunk somewhat stronger than the Temperance Society authorizes, got into a violent passion, and seized the President by the Nose. You would have taken him by the collar, I by the hand, madam by the arm, this one by the ears, and that one by the hair:—the naval officer, with more originality and independence, took the head of the Union by the Nose, and holding it between his thumb and finger, bellowed out:—"Starboard, larboard, port hole, cable, tow rope, forecastle, quarter deck,—porpoise, sea wolf! may you be smothered in a squall, blown away in a hurricane—you shark skin, flemish drunkard—Newfoundland dog, flying fish, cursed grappling iron,"—and I know not how many more agreeable epithets, with which naval literature daily enriches the dictionaries of civilized countries. The citizens of the new world, passing at the time, were astonished to see the republic's Nose, (through the Nose of the republic's representative) so severely handled, but no one dared to rescue the head of the best of republics, for fear of infringing the individual liberty of the naval officers, and, in consequence, the President's Nose was drawn out to a frightful length—the officer pulled at it like a cable.

At last a constable very leisurely approached them, and desired the officer three several times, as by law required, to let go, but the officer had no notion of obeying. "Old Hickory," said he to the head of the government, "I have got your nose in my power—it depends upon me whether you ever again take a pinch of rappee—make me a post captain, and I'll let go." "My agreeable friend," said the President, "your finger and thumb pinch my nose, but I would rather lose it, than accede to your demands; and by the eternal, Mr. Randolph, with all the dignity my situation will allow, you no longer make part of the navy of the United States." On hearing this, the furious officer pulled the republic's nose until it came off. The President rose with dignity, wiped the wound with his pocket handkerchief, and proceeding with measured steps to the capitol, seated himself at his desk and wrote an order for the officer's arrest; but while he wrote, the officer escaped, carrying with him the nose he had so wickedly pulled off. No person stopped him, for there was no order issued for stopping him, and Americans are free.

One may infer, from this event, related in the 'Messager,' that in the best of republics, the public functionaries will do well in future to leave their noses at home whenever they venture out on public duty.

We have, within a few weeks, been called to record an unusual mortality among the conductors of the press. Among a fraternity so limited in number, the death of so many within so short a time, is a circumstance worthy of notice. The names which occur to us, without reference to our files, are, Folsom of Eastport, Catlett and Wooster, of Mississippi, Yancey, of Petersburg, Mullay, of Shelbyville, and Hunt, of Nashville.

On the other hand, editors, especially in the West, have been remarkably successful in getting forward in political life. In Indiana, especially, the number of successful candidates for different election offices, is large. Mr. Kinnard, the new member of Congress from the Marion district, was editor of the Democrat; Mr. Ewing, the new member from the Wabash district, was editor of the Wabash Telegraph; Mr. Cully, editor of the Lawrenceburg Palladium, is elected to the State Senate; Mr. Morrison, editor of the Democrat, is also elected to the State Senate; Messrs. Crume and Smith, from Fayetteville, and Mr. Wallace, from Jefferson—all editors—are chosen to the house of representatives. Mr. Birch, one of the candidates for Congress, in Missouri, is an editor; as was Mr. Smith, the candidate in the Cumberland district, in Maine.—The 'press' seems to be pressing forward.—Balt. Amer.

The first two numbers of the Law Library, conducted by two of the best read members of our Bar, and published by Mr. John S. Littell, at No. 215 Chesnut street, have been much commended by our reading lawyers, as excellent and cheap editions of very valuable works. Mr. Littell has now issued a third, containing the conclusion of the work commenced in the second, with the whole of Bradby's Treatise on the Law of Distresses.—This completes a volume, comprising Theobald on Principal and Surety, Blanchard and Wilkinson on the Statutes of Limitation, and Bradby on Distresses, with additions, by Mr. Adams. The London cost of these books is Fourteen Dollars and a half. Mr. Littell's subscribers get them for Two and a half, in a form not less neat, and much more convenient.

The work has been so liberally encouraged that the publisher promises, for the coming numbers, better paper than that now used; but we really think that no such improvement is necessary.—Our copy of the third number looks as well as any American law book that we remember to have seen.—Philadelphia Chron.

THE LONDON AND GREENWICH RAILWAY.—This railway is the germ of an immense line of rail road, stretching to Dover, with its continuation from Calais to Paris, and throughout the whole of France to the Mediterranean at Marseilles, the whole of which vast extent of lines of road are about to be covered with railways by Joint Stock Companies in England, and in France by the government of the country. We give in the following calculations a view of the advantages and savings of time and expense resulting from the railways, thus reaching from Liverpool to the metropolis of France:

	Miles.	Hours.
From Liverpool to London, by the Grand Junction Railway,	210	10
From London to Dover, over the London and Greenwich Grand Viaduct or Railway (the plans for the continuation of this line being now in the Private Bill Office in the House of Commons,)	72	4
From Dover to Calais, by Steam Navigation,	21	2
From Calais to Paris, by Railway, determined on by the French government,	190	9
	493	25

Almost all the time now occupied in traveling from Liverpool to London, per coach, the whole distance at an expense of less than 3*l.*; whilst the intercourse between Liverpool and Dublin by steam navigation, is secured to the port of Liverpool by ten hours sail. Thus, therefore, the disadvantages of distance will be as it were annihilated by the railway system, and nations will become as provinces of the same territory.—London paper.

We are gratified in announcing another evidence of Baltimore spirit and enterprize, in the actual commencement of operations on the line of the Baltimore and Port Deposit rail road. The distance from Baltimore to Port Deposit, by the rail road, will be forty one miles; from Port Deposit to the Pennsylvania line, eleven miles—it will then strike the commencement of the Oxford rail road, which intersects the Columbia rail road at the distance of 45 1-2 miles from Philadelphia—thus furnishing a continuous line of rail road from Baltimore to Philadelphia, a distance of only 118 miles. Engineers are now actively engaged in the location of the Oxford rail road; and of the 45 1-2 miles of the Columbia rail road, we understand that 30 miles are completed, and the other 12 1-2 miles are graduated.—Balt. Chron.

Mad River and Lake Erie Rail Road.—The Albany Argus publishes a letter from one of the engineers employed in surveying the rout of this projected improvement, from which it appears that the survey of the work has been completed, and estimates of the costs laid before the Commissioners, who have determined immediately to open subscriptions for the stock in New York, Albany, Buffalo, and other places. The capital of the company is $10,000,000, of which the sum of $50,000 was subscribed in compliance with the charter, before the survey was commenced.

The object of this road is to connect Lake Erie with the Ohio river at Cincinnati. Its terminating points are Sandusky city, on the Lake, and Dayton, (in the south western part of the State) 65 miles north from Cincinnati, with which it is connected by means of the Miami canal, which has been in successful operation since 1829; and there is also a MacAdamized road in progress of construction from Springfield to Cincinnati. The rout of the rail road will be nearly parallel to, and from 60 to 80 miles west of, the Ohio Canal.

Ten miles of paper.—Paper used to be sold by the sheet, the quire, or the ream; but in "the march of improvement," stationary will not remain stationary, and so it is now sold by measure. The following order was received from a pottery firm the other day. The writer, it will be observed, gives his orders with as much indifference as though they were not at all extraordinary:—"Gentlemen—Please to send us ten miles of your best printing tissue paper, in length; 6 miles to be 30 inches broad, 4 miles 22 inches broad—to be wrapped on wooden rollers, according to the plan given to Mr. George Fourdrinier." The object of having the paper of such great length is, that it may be printed from engraved cylinders, in the same way as calicoes, &c.—London paper.

Rhode Island.—The election for members of Congress in this State took place on Tuesday. In 12 towns heard from, the votes stand as follows: for Burges 1576, Pearce 824; Updike 381, Sprague 535, Cranston and others 506. If the other towns gave votes to each candidate in the same ratio, Mr. Burges will be elected by a large majority, and there must be another trial for his colleague.—New York Gaz.

LATE FROM MEXICO.

Files of Tampico papers, to the 31st July, containing intelligence from Mexico to the 24th, have been received at the office of the New Orleans "Bee." Among the extracts furnished by that paper, the following is of most interest and importance to our commercial readers.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO COMMERCE.

OFFICIAL DECREE.

From the Tampico Gazette, of the 2d August.

BY THOMAS ROSSELL,

Political Chief to the Southern Department of the State of Tamaulipas.

According to a resolution adopted by the illustrious Ayuntamsento and other authorities of this city, convened in the Sala-Capitular, who have taken into consideration the scarcity of provisions in which this city and others of the state are placed, and the impossibility to forward them by land to supply the wants of the inhabitants, who are menaced with famine—it was unanimously decreed to permit the introduction of flour, corn, rice, beans, lard, potatoes, and onions, from foreign ports: The following duties to be paid—on flour, $3 per barrel; lard, 5 reals per arroba; rice, 1 real per arroba; and the other mentioned articles free of duty: Provided, that for every barrel of flour they should import two fanegas of corn. And, as this measure has been taken provisionally, and only for the term of 75 days, on account of the imperious law of necessity, which does not permit any delay in the determination to be taken by the Supreme Government in reference to the measure, in order that it may come to the knowledge of all, and that they may bring the above mentioned provisions, it is published and put in circulation, from this day to the time granted.

Tampico de Tamaulipas, August 1st, 1833.

THOMAS ROSSELL.

It is reported that the cholera has made its appearance in the city of Mexico, and it is ascertained to have prevailed with great violence in St. Luis de Potosi; the detachment of troops under the command of Gen. Montezuma, consisting of about 2,500 men, were, in consequence, obliged to quit that place, and encamp some where else in the neighborhood, where it had not yet appeared.

There had been a bloody battle before Puebla, in which the revolutionists suffered a severe defeat.—They were obliged to raise the siege and to retire.

Santa Anna was advancing towards Puebla, at the head of 2,500 men; there were already congregated at Mexico 9,000 soldiers.

We find the following additional particulars in the French part of the New Orleans paper:

The insurgents were also beaten at Toluca, by General Valencia, and driven from that city, of which Escalada had but just taken possession.—The latter, in his flight, was compelled to abandon his artillery and munitions and direct his course towards the south, where he was awaited by Colonel Alvarez, who had penetrated into Tistla, at the head of 700 men.

According to the newspapers, the insurgents have been defeated in almost all their encounters with the troops of the Government. Nevertheless, and notwithstanding the reports of deserters, stating that Arista and Daran were reduced to the last extremity, those two leaders of the revolution had not quitted the environs of the federal district. Santa Anna pursued them in every direction; but, notwithstanding the rapidity of his movements, he could not come up with them.

At the last dates it appeared that Santa Anna was at Arroyo-Zarco.

The roads from Tampico and Vera Cruz to Mexico were said to be far from being safe.

From the Baltimore Gazette.

We publish, to day, a letter from Robert Smith, Esq., formerly Secretary of State, to the Hon. John Quincy Adams, with the reply of the latter; and, in order that our readers may have the whole matter before them, we republish the article which gave rise to the correspondence.

From the Baltimore Gazette, August 9.

We find the following historical anecdote in the Boston Atlas. Mr. Adams's experience would furnish a boundless supply of such reminiscences; and the Memoirs of his own time faithfully written, would form one of the most interesting books which could be offered to an American reader.—But we should doubt the correctness of this anecdote, though we have read something like it before.

"Now that we are speaking of Mr. Madison, I will relate a circumstance that I heard from the lips of J. Quincy Adams, in Washington, some years ago, at a dinner party, consisting of several members of Congress, one of whom, I recollect, was William Plumer, Jr., of New Hampshire.—Mr. Adams had said, in the course of conversation, that but for an unlucky expression of Robert Smith, then Secretary of State, in one of his official letters to the British Minister, all our differences with Great Britain might have been amicably arranged, and the blood and treasure expended in the last war saved. This remark excited surprize, and one of the company inquired, if, in such cases, the correspondence of the Secretary of State did not pass under the review of the eye of the President. Mr. Adams replied yes, but added, that the offensive expression must have escaped Mr. Madison's notice. Mr. Gallatin, continued he, had he been in the State Department, would not have been guilty of such indiscretion."

BALTIMORE, August 12, 1833.

Sir—In the Boston Atlas, of the 6th inst., it is stated, as I have just discovered from another Gazette, that, in a conversation at a dinner party some years since, you had said, among other things, that, "but for an unlucky expression of Robert Smith, then Secretary of State, in one of his official letters to the British Minister, all our differences with Great Britain might have been amicably arranged, and the blood and the treasure expended in the last war saved.

As this publication has virtually the sanction of your name, I hasten to call your attention to it, under the persuasion that your sense of propriety will not allow you to lose any time in correcting its misrepresentations.

With great respect,
Your humble serv't,
R. SMITH.

The Hon. John Quincy Adams, Boston.

Robert Smith, Esq., Baltimore, Md.

QUINCY, 19th August, 1833.

Sir—I have never seen the publication in the Boston Atlas, to which your letter of the 12th inst., alludes—nor, until I received your letter, was I aware of its existence.

I never expressed the opinion that is imputed to me, in the statement which you consider as having virtually the sanction of my name—It has not mine.

It is not unlikely that at some dinner table conversation within the last twenty years, I may have said that I had heard from some one pretending to be acquainted with the secrets of the British Administration at the time of what was called Erskine's Arrangement, that although that gentleman had transcended his instructions, they would have ratified his agreement with you, but for an expression, at which the King (George III.) took personal offence. This much I may have said, because I have a distinct recollection of having heard or seen the fact so represented. The offensive expression consisted in the last member of the closing paragraph of your letter to Mr. Erskine, of the 17th April, 1809—"nor the less persuaded that it would best comport with what is due from his Britannic Majesty to his own honor."

Whether this statement of the intentions of the British Administration was correct or not, I do not know; nor have I ever spoken of it as a fact of the Truth of which I felt assured. But after mentioning it as a circumstance thus dubious, I may have spoken of it as an additional exemplification to numberless others upon historic record, of the trifling incidents upon which the question of Peace and War between Nations, exasperated against each other, may depend.

Nor is it impossible that I may have expressed a sentiment of regret that the expression in your letter to Mr. Erskine had been used, because, although just in itself, it gave an air of ingratiousness to the acceptance of a conciliatory proposition, and because it seemed to me a departure from the sound principle of discussion between independent parties, that each might be exclusively the judge of what is due to his own honor, in his own conduct. But, as your letter stated that, you had it in express charge from the President to make this remark, and I had read, I think, a declaration, by you, that you had objected to this very expression at the time when the letter to Mr. Erskine, in which it was contained, was prepared, I never did consider you responsible for it, whether my opinion of its import was just or not. I, therefore, never can have spoken of it in the spirit manifested by the article in the Atlas, as you have understood it.

It is proper that I should apprize you that while admitting the probability that I may have spoken as I have explained, in the unrestrained freedom of private conversation, at a dinner table, I have no recollection of such conversation, nor a suspicion who has made such conversation, real or supposed, the subject of an article in a newspaper. Accustomed, as I have been, to the grossest perversions and misrepresentations of what I have said, as well as what I have written, I have seldom thought them worthy of notice. But from my experience I have been led to the conclusion, that the temper and morality which indulge themselves in detailing the public dinner table conversations are always united with an aptitude of blundering, which disqualify for the correct representation of them even when unconscious of the intent of wilful falsification. I am, with much respect, Sir,

Your very obedient servant,
JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

JESTS FROM THE ANTIQUE.

A hyperbolical scoundrel in Athens inscribed over his door, "Let nothing evil enter here." Diogenes wrote under it, "By what door does the owner come in?"

Being asked what was the best hour for dinner, he replied, "For the rich when they please; for the poor when they can."

Seeing a wicked boy throwing stones at the gallows, he replied, "Well aimed, boy! you will hit the mark at last."

When told that his countrymen, the Synopians, had sentenced him to banishment, he replied, "I have condemned them to a worse punishment—to stay at home."

Being asked, by a student of natural history, what was the worst beast, he replied, "of the wild, the Slanderer, of the tame, the Flatterer."

Seeing a scolding wife, who had hanged herself on an olive tree, he exclaimed, "O! that all trees would bear such fruit."

One lawyer unjustly charged another with theft: Diogenes being chosen umpire, condemned both, declaring that the accused was a thief, but the accuser had lost nothing.

Seeing the son of a courtezan throwing stones at a crowd, he called out, "Take care boy, lest you hit your father!"

Hearing a handsome youth speak foolishly, he exclaimed, "What a shame to see a leaden sword drawn from an ivory scabbard!"

Seeing an unskilful archer shooting, he went and sat down by the target, declaring it the only place of safety.

It is announced that Rev. E. K. Avery is about to withdraw from the ministry, until the excitement which has been raised against him shall have subsided, and that he intends to remove to the western part of New York.

Drowning the Tea.—It is stated in the Otsego Republican, that there is yet living, in that county, one of the gallant band who threw the cargo of British tea overboard, in Boston Harbor, sixty six years ago. His name is George R. T. Hewes. He was born in Boston, in the year 1734, and is consequently ninety nine years of age. He is believed to be the only surviving member of the memorable tea party referred to.

Mackerel Fishing.—We understand by a gentleman from Provincetown, that in one day last week there were taken in the harbour upwards of one thousand barrels of Mackerel. The two or three days past we have observed from the hills a great number of vessels in the bay betwen Plymouth and the Cape, and by their management it is presumed the mackerel are plenty. On Tuesday there were counted nearly two hundred vessels.—Barnstable Jour.

BRADDOCK'S FIELD

Edgeworth Young Ladies' Seminary.

ANOTHER year, the seventh of this Institution, has terminated, under circumstances pleasing in the retrospect, and replete with successful result.

In taking leave of those young ladies whose allotted time has expired, the relation of teacher and pupil of course ceases, but feelings of kindness, and desire for friendly intercourse, with mutual prosperity, will ever exist.

Health, the first of earthly blessings, has been so extraordinary, as to make Braddock's Field proverbial as a place for its enjoyment; and the additional buildings and arrangements have given satisfaction to all. We therefore announce, with gratitude, the prosperity of the Institution, in the present public manner.

On the 18th proximo, (September) it is intended to resume the engagements of the Seminary, but with a limited number.

It is intended, that, except as vacancies occur, no more pupils shall be received the next session, than those whose names remain on the list, or who are considered as engaged. This arrangement, it is presumed, will receive the approval of our friends.

The same course of studies will be pursued as particularized in former notices—and the terms continue unaltered, viz.

Pupilage, with reference to all the English branches,	$150
Tuition in Music and Drawing,	50

No extras but washing and stationery.

PROSPECT HILL

Literary & Scientific Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

Paper Mill for Sale.

THE Extensive Establishment, known as the Soft Spring Paper Mill, now in the occupancy of C. Lukens & Co. is offered for sale.—Its situation is both desirable and healthy, possessing local advantages superior to any mill in the west, with a spring of pure, soft water, yielding a superabundance for all purposes—propelled by an engine sufficiently powerful, and to which has recently been added an entire New Machine for the manufacture of paper. Its location is about two miles from the city, on the Eastern Turnpike. The subscribers have no hesitation in believing it offers inducements to purchasers highly advantageous.

The terms will be rendered satisfactory, and but a small portion of the purchase money required at the time of sale, with an extended credit for the residue, being determined to make an early disposal. It will be sold low. Application made personally, or by communication, to either of the subscribers, will be attended to.

Western Collegiate Institute,

FOR YOUNG LADIES,

NEAR PITTSBURGH,

UNDER the superintendence of WILLIAM B. LACEY, D. D., with arrangements of increased efficiency, will commence it Autumnal Session, on the First Monday in September next.

In the Senior department, Dr. Lacey, with competent Assistants, will hear recitations in Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, Chemistry, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Logic, Elements of Criticism, in reference to Language and the Fine Arts, Elocution, Natural Theology, Evidences of Christianity, and Sacred History.

In the Junior Department, Mr. Bryan B. Killikelly, late Vice Principal of a Collegiate School, in the city of New York, will give instructions in Orthography, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Botany, Geology, Ancient and Modern History, Rhetoric, and the Latin and Greek languages.

In the Ornamental department, Mrs. Lacey, assisted by accomplished instructors, will give lessons in the French, and Italian languages, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Drawing, and Painting, in the style of several of the European, and Oriental Schools, Calisthenics, and the forms and elegancies of polished life.

The price for Board, General Superintendance, Fuel, Candlelight, Pew Rent, access to an extensive Library, instructions in Calesthenics, Orthography, Reading, Writing, Rudiments of Geography, and Arithmetic, and all the varieties of Needle Work, will be $30 per term. To this charge will be added, for instruction in any or in all of the higher branches taught in the Junior department, (except the Latin and Greek languages) $6; or instead thereof, in any or in all the branches of the Senior department, $8; French and Italian, each $8; Music, including the use of the instruments for practice, $13; Drawing, and Painting, $6; Bronzing and Painting, in the Oriental styles, $20. Or, if Parents prefer a more definite arrangement, Dr. Lacey will Board, and Instruct, in any, or in all the branches taught in the Institute, for $200, per annum, per scholar, they paying the amount in advance.

The Principal intends to establish, in the vicinity, and under his own general Superintendance, a school for small boys, where, with his own sons, they will be fitted for entrance into any college in the United States. The charge for board and tuition, in any or in all the branches of a finished English education will be $120 per annum, and for other branches proportionally moderate.

No scholar will be received for a less time than one term; and all bills must be paid one quarter in advance.

Each pupil is required to bring a Bible, Bed, and Bedding, Towels; Table spoon, Tea spoon, Knife and Fork.

Pupils will be permitted to attend any place of public worship their Parents may designate.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

WILSON & SMITH, from N. York,

RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Pittsburgh and the neighboring towns, that they have commenced the manufacture of the above beautiful and elegant article, so much admired and worn throughout Europe, and the principal cities in the United States.

W. & S. beg leave to observe, that, after various experiments, they have at last succeeded in bringing this Hat to the highest state of perfection, and they can assert, with confidence, that in point of color, lightness, elasticity, durability, and general beauty of appearance, they cannot be surpassed by the most expensive Hat that is made. Gentlemen are invited to call and examine them, and judge for themselves.

Wholesale Dealers supplied at the same prices as in the New York markets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in all cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river, where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.

To Baltimore and Philadelphia

TRAVELLERS.

THE LINE OF STAGES between Chambersburgh and Baltimore, on the Somerset and Mountpleasant route, has been doubled, and now runs DAILY, (Mondays excepted,) leaving Chambersburgh at day-light in the morning, and arriving in Baltimore, early the same evening.

Passengers reach Philadelphia, in this way, the second afternoon, from Chambersburgh, without the loss of any rest; taking the splendid STEAM BOAT LINES, which set out at 6 o'clock in the morning, [via CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL, a work well worth the trip to see.]

REESIDE, Owner.

In all cases where the passengers desire to reach Baltimore in time for the 5 o'clock steam-boat to Philadelphia, they can do so by leaving Chambersburgh at one o'clock in the morning, or immediately after the arrival of the Western Mail Stage. In this way, they arrive in Philadelphia, by eight o'clock the second morning, from Chambersburgh.

☞ When a load offers, the stage will run on Mondays. April 23, 1830.—tf.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
